Subject: Appealing the Unit 13 Court Case

Governor Palin:

As a member of the Board of Game, I am writing to request that the state agree to appeal the latest Superior Courts ruling over-turning a portion of the regulations aimed at resolving our ongoing moose and caribou subsistence crisis in Unit 13. It is my understanding that the final decision is being made exclusively in the Governor's office and I am appealing for your assistance in helping us resolve this crisis. Although I have to be honest, I did not agree with the decision not to appeal the preliminary injunction ruling by the court. The Supreme Court has generally frowned on last minute regulatory appeals of this type and this regulatory approach was grounded in sound law and supported by previous court rulings. Letting this experiment run for at least one year would not have created any hardships. To let this decision stand, however, would seriously undermine the Board process, establish an unreasonable precedent and essentially gut our attempts to try a new approach to resolving this issue. Without the segments the court dismantled, this approach cannot succeed.

For almost three years the Board of Game has been addressing one of our most contentious subsistence issues -- subsistence taking of moose and caribou in Game Management Units 11 & 13. We have held numerous public meetings with advisory committees and the general public, including Board hearings, in an attempt to establish some mechanism to resolve the notoriously controversial and disliked subsistence permitting system in these units. Virtually everyone agreed that the old system was not working and there needed to be a change. As you and I discussed at our last meeting in your office, this subsistence hunt does not meet the red faced test in that the hunt is being conducted by many residents in the following manner:

Using a $60,000+ motor home
Dragging $25,000+ in equipment like four wheelers
Hunting for one week
To kill one caribou
Calling it subsistence

Clearly, this type of hunt does not meet the 8 criteria established by the Joint Boards in defining the qualifications for subsistence hunting and fishing.

Unfortunately, because of the court cases and the nuances of the state subsistence law, the Board has had very few visible options available in its regulatory tool box. In an attempt to search for new mechanisms to address this issue, the Board attempted to consider an "exclusive subsistence hunting area" concept. This approach was new, innovative and complicated. For a variety of reasons, despite the fact that the approach was looked upon favorably by many board members, the public was not supportive of this approach.

The Board then went back to the drawing board and examined the various options available to resolve this issue. The Board attempted in its new regulations to: (1) implement regulations which encouraged some economy of effort as required in the 8 criteria; (2) direct subsistence permits to those most qualified residents based on alternative resources; (3) discourage hunters from applying for permits if they had alternatives available (i.e. other places or resources available); (4) to implement a process that the pubic could look on as being basically "fair"; and (5) experiment with regulatory tools that might work.

Some residents have opposed any attempt by the Board to find new solutions to this issue. Continually, they have offered only one solution: Amend the state Constitution, go into compliance with the federal subsistence law and change the state law to comply. It is my understanding that you have opposed this approach to resolving the subsistence problem in our state. If we have no intentions of taking that course, it seems we have only two options: (1) change the state law to make it more workable; or (2) use some new techniques like the Board of Game just attempted to do to implement a more publicly acceptable subsistence permitting system.

In closing, I would like to suggest that we are all in this pit together. Second guessing the Board's exhaustive process and final actions with no possible alternatives and explanations does not reflect what I would call a real team approach. I would again appeal to the you and the Attorney General to support the Board's actions and proceed to appeal this latest ruling on its merits as quickly as possible.

Thank You

Ron Somerville

Dear Governor Palin:

In reference to HB 113, Optometric scope of practice bill, I just noticed in the Primary Care Optometry News, 8/1/2007, the following article that is excerpted below and the web site if you wish to visit is: http://www.pconsupersite.com/default.asp?ID=15700

The quote is from President-Elect Kevin L. Alexander, OD, PhD: "While optometry has developed an effective means to credential entry-level optometrists, the profession has side-stepped a similarly rigorous method of certifying continued and advanced competence," he said.

This statement by the President-Elect of the American Optometric Association underscores our concern regarding this legislation. Neither the Alaska Board of Optometric Examiners nor any national optometric organization is equipped or prepared to certify the advanced competence that the provisions of this bill would require. Given that this bill would give optometrists one of the broadest scopes of practice in the United States, Alaskans would be placed at greatest risk. "Rigorous methods of certifying continued and advanced competence" should not be "side-stepped" in this state.

After reading this quote I believe you will agree with our concerns regarding this bill and how it will lower the quality of healthcare/eye care to Alaskans.
Thank you for your time and consideration.
Sincerely,

Carl Rosen, MD

Subject: RE: HOT! Issuing AGIA' Amended RFA & Press Release!

Governor,

Yes, that is part of the message. However I believe the main reason we are extending the application deadline is that we issued a very detailed, comprehensive (but reasonable) Request for Applications. We did so knowing there would be questions about the application and the process and we asked for input. We facilitated our request for input by developing a blind portal that potential applicants could use to ask for clarifications and suggest amendments to the RFA and associated process. We also actively marketed AGIA to a broad array of companies in order to apprise all players of what the state of Alaska was doing in order to move the Gasline project forward. This included companies new to the project, and potentially behind companies that have been participating in the Alaska Gasline project up to this point. As a result of our marketing effort, and our request for input to the RFA, there is significant interest in participating in the AGIA competition from both "old" and "new" companies. And some of these companies have asked for additional time to respond to RFA. We are honoring these requests for additional time to put together applications in order to ensure as much competition in AGIA as possible. It is in the states interest to have more applicants participating. The secondary reason for the deadline extension is the PPT Special Session and the need to staff it adequately.

Governor,

Here is the cut & paste content of the press release:

The Commissioners of Natural Resources and Revenue today issued a revised Request for AGIA Applications. The deadline for AGIA Applications has been extended to November 30. The new deadline responds to requests from several prospective participants for more time to prepare applications. The new deadline still allows the Commissioners to analyze the applications, take comments from the public and deliver their Notice of Intent to Award and Findings to the Legislature during its regular session.

After AGIA passed, representatives of the gasline team made a significant effort to reach out to a broad array of prospective applicants to make them aware of the opportunity presented by AGIA. Lieutenant Governor Sean Parnell, who participated in the outreach efforts, noted that they "generated interest amongst potential new participants and it is in the state's interest to make reasonable accommodations to secure maximum participation."

In addition to the deadline change, the RFA was also modified to respond to several issues identified through the RFA Inquiries website. The Amended RFA includes information that should help interested parties prepare complete applications that comply with the requirements established by the Legislature in AGIA. The Amended RFA is available on-line at the AGIA documents website http://www.dog.dnr.state.ak.us/agia/index.htm <http://www.dog.dnr.state.ak.us/agia/index.htm> in both a format that shows the changes and a clean version.

The issues identified through the website by prospective applicants demonstrate that they have thoroughly read the RFA and are seriously interested in providing responsive Applications. The AGIA process continues to progress towards the goal of an Alaskan gas pipeline project that is in the best interest of Alaska and the nation.

The press release has been discussed with the COS, Joe Balash, the Lt. Governor and the two Commissioners. I also want to thank you for allowing the extension to the RFA application deadline. The Gasline Team believes this deadline extension to be absolutely necessary to ensure maximum participation in the AGIA' competitive process.

Governor,

A good possibility for a small processor is Jack Schultheis of Kwikpak Fisheries. This is the company on the lower Yukon that Eric Olson works for. I'm still waiting for his resume, but I expect to have it soon. I know he has previous ASMI board experience and Kwikpak has a good reputation for quality.

You asked if we could find someone for the large processor seat who is an Alaskan resident. I did some research and did not find any large processors with an Alaska resident CEO. Given this, Tom McLaughlin at Seafood Producer's Cooperative is probably still our best candidate. He lives in Bellingham.

FYI, Icicle announced today that they are selling the company to a private equity firm in California, Fox Paine Management. No management changes are expected.

He said you presented the family with a state flag. That was great of you. I live in Fayetteville, North Carolina now but I still have some very strong ties up there. I started the Farthest North Chapter XII of the 173rd Airborne Brigade up there back in 1988. When I left there in 1992 the chapter slowly faded away. I'm trying to get mr. Joseph Fields in fairbanks to head up the chapter with the help of CSM Gunter in Fort Rich. It looks like you really have some strong ties with the Vets up there. Thanks for that! I will keep you posted about the Chapter. rnrnYou may not know this, but we have a reunion in a different state every year. This year we were in Rochester, Minnasota. Last year we were here in North Carolina. The year before that we were in Austraila Next year 2008 the association has decid!

ed it's time to head North to Alaska. I am trying to come up with a meet and greet at one of the stops during the 7 day Alaskian Cruise. If you get a chance could you please look at our web site www.skysoldier.org and click on the Alaskian Cruise link and take a look at the schedule. I'm open to any suggestions you might have for the trip. The planned stops are Wednesday 28 May is Juneau from 0700 till 2000, Thursday 29 May is Sitka from 0800 till 1700. Friday 30 May is Ketchikan 0700-1300hrs Reception/Awards ceremony 1800 hours (Show Room), Captain's Cocktail 1915-2000, Banquet Dinner 2000 (Lower Floor) - FORMAL: Jacket & Tie or Uniform: No Blue Jeans/ Short or T Shirts. rnrnIf memory serves me right your office is in Juneau. It would be great if we could have you as a guest for the first day to welcome the Sky Soldiers to Alaska or the last day rnto attend the banquet dinner and fly back to Alaska the next day. We could probably get you a room for one evening on the !

ship if you were willing to visit.rnrnAs you can see I'm alre! ady making plans for your visit. Thanks for your time madam Governor, and once again thank you so very much for helping ease the burden of our newest Gold Star family at their son's funeral Monday the 6th of August.rnrnRespectfully yoursrnWilliam E.
